

Supplementary material

Kosior DA, Szulc M, Rosiak M, et al; for the Investigators of the HOT CAFE Polish study.

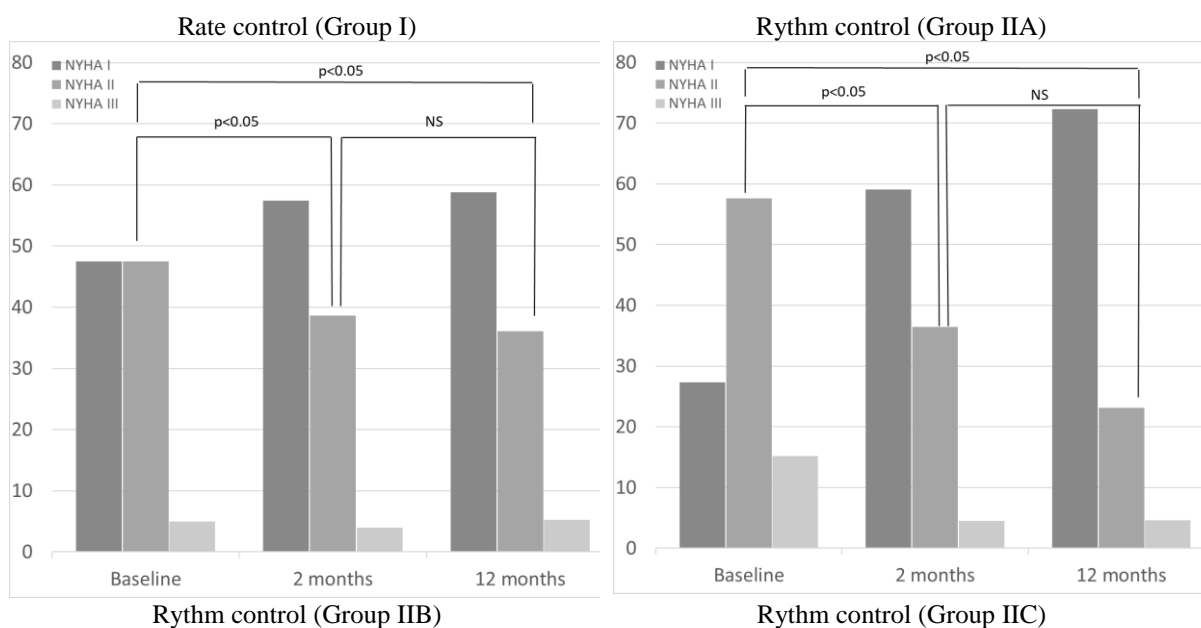

Functional status with rhythm- versus rate-control strategy for persistent atrial fibrillation.

Pol Arch Intern Med. 2018; 128: 658-666. doi: 10.20452/pamw.4316

Please note that the journal is not responsible for the scientific accuracy or functionality of any supplementary material submitted by the authors. Any queries (except missing content) should be directed to the corresponding author of the article.

Figure 2.

Changes in the heart failure symptoms intensity assessed according to the NYHA class in the rate control group and subgroups of rhythm control determined by the cardioversion effect and the duration of sinus rhythm maintenance.

Abbreviations: see Table 1 and Table 2.